COURSE DESCRIPTION:

In this class, the students will develop job preparation skills through job-readiness curriculum materials and work experience to ensure that each student acquire necessary skills to be successful in a work environment as well as becoming a responsible and productive member of the society.

Due to remote (online) learning during this COVID-19 pandemic, we will focus mainly on job exploration, self-assessments, disability rights, and laws (ADA), self-advocacy, transition planning, and more.

Once we resume to in-class instruction, students will participate in work experience by being placed with a non-paying job either on-campus or off-campus, depending on student's interests and readinesses. In the meanwhile, we will continue to learn how to become successful in our future jobs!

GRADING:

Quarterly grades will be determined as follows:

- Class Assignments: 30%
- Participation: 40%
- Projects/Tests: 30%
